

UNIQUE TEK CASE GAUGES

INSIDE PRODUCT NEWS

by Clair Rees

Case gauges are a valuable tool for any serious reloader. They allow you to test your reloads as you make them. Whether you are loading for hunting, plinking or competition, discovering that your ammunition won't chamber once you're at the range will ruin your day. These case gauges are for cartridges that have been overlooked by other manufacturers. They include .32 H&R Magnum ($25.95), .32 S&W Long ($25.95), .327 Federal Magnum ($27.95) and 12-gauge shotshells ($24.95).

The 12-gauge shotshell gauge checks the entire shotshell, not just the diameter of the head. Gauging the entire shotshell is critical to make sure the plastic hull is true. A shotshell that's out of true will be slow to chamber, slow to eject and may cause feeding failures in pump and auto-loading shotguns. This gauges all 12-gauge shotshells in 2¾- and 3-inch lengths, including both low brass and high brass hulls.

CNC machined from 6061-T6 aluminum, the case gauges now have a clear anodized coating for enhanced durability. For more information, visit online: www.unique-tek.com.
